PERSONAL FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

No. 135 $22.50

NOW AVAILABLE

All accountants will need the new CICA Study Group Report...

Until now, there has been little Canadian reference material available that provides specific guidance to professionals engaged in the preparation and review of personal financial statements.

The main objectives of this Study Group report are to focus on the needs of the practitioner undertaking engagements relating to personal financial statements, as well as the users and preparers of these statements in order to effectively communicate the vital information they contain.

The many items covered in the Report include:

- the purpose and use of personal financial statements;
- the basis of accounting that should be followed in their preparation;
- the extent of the applicability to such statements of "generally accepted accounting principles";
- the method recommended by the Study Group (estimated current value) for valuing assets and liabilities for statement presentation;
- the components that should be included in the financial statements;

- the type of service engagements that practitioners may undertake (compilation, review, audit) and the conditions that should apply before accepting the engagement;
- the procedures that should be followed by the practitioner at the beginning of and during the engagement;
- the type of communication that should be used by the practitioner on completion of the engagement;

Personal Financial Statements includes several useful appendices that contain engagement letters, client representation letter, listing of typical enquiries that may be used in a review engagement, an example set of "personal financial statements" and a listing of those CICA Handbook sections considered by the Study Group to apply in whole or in part to personal financial statements.

Personal Financial Statements is an invaluable reference source that will provide the information and guidance you need in the preparation of meaningful personal financial statements. Order your copy today.

Order copies from: CICA Order Department, 150 Bloor St. West, Toronto, Canada M5S 2Y2 and include 10% shipping and handling. Orders under $25.00 total must be prepaid or charged to valid VISA or MasterCard account — supply name, number and expiry date.
